

A Digital Marketing Campaign

Presented by Annika Jungfleisch, Yelyzaveta Dolha, Eve Bourke, Bori Tóth

Executive Summary

A Movement, Not Just a Store

Our mission is to position The Urban Co-op as a community-focused initiative, reinforcing that it offers more than groceries by serving as a hub for wellness, education and sustainable living.

This entails:

- Emphasising sustainability, ethical sourcing, and local empowerment
- Strengthening its role in the local economy
- Emphasising the support of local producers and contributing to long-term regional resilience
- Encouraging customers to see themselves as part of a collective, not just as shoppers

The “Co-operate” Campaign

We propose an integrated campaign, “Support Local. Eat Well. Co-operate,” to position the Co-op as a lifestyle choice and the key hub for sustainability and wellness in Limerick.

This entails:

- Promoting collaboration between customers, producers, and the Urban Co-op.
- Activating engagement through digital storytelling, user-generated content, events, and partnerships.
- Reinforcing the Co-op’s role as both a retailer and a community movement

A Community-First Digital Strategy

We are your strategic partners in building a digital community ecosystem that inherently reflects your core values.

Our Approach	Others Approach
Every channel (Instagram, TikTok, Email, Events, Google) speaks with one unified voice.	Internal teams don't communicate well with each other and content isn't synced.
Strategy is centred on the community and local storytelling to build trust.	Focus is purely on immediate sales conversion.
HubSpot CRM is used as the central control tower for full funnel tracking.	Focus is only on channel-specific metrics.
